DECLARATION OF DAN STORMER

I, Dan Stormer, declare as follows:

1. I am an attorney licensed to practice law in California and before this Court, and am counsel of record for plaintiffs in this action. I make this declaration in support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Attorney's Fees. It is based on my own personal knowledge, and if called as a witness, I could and would testify to the following matters.

MY REQUESTED HOURLY RATE IS REASONABLE

2. I am a founding partner of the law firm of Hadsell Stormer & Renick LLP, which practices primarily in the area of employment discrimination, constitutional, civil rights, international human rights, and public interest law. I have been in the practice of law for over four decades and a member of the State Bar of California since 1981, an inactive member of the State Bar of Colorado (1974), and a former member of the State Bar of Washington (1977).

3. I am "AV Preeminent" rated by Martindale-Hubbell. For many decades, I have been listed as a "leading" or "top" attorney on the national, state, and local level in many surveys of my peers and in publications, including: "The Best Lawyers In America" (since 1994), one of the "Top 100 Trial Lawyers" (National Trial Lawyers), one of the "Top 100 Most Influential Lawyers in California" (California Law Business), one of the Top 75 Labor and Employment Lawyers, and as one of the top five (and on other occasions, ten) plaintiff employment lawyers in California (Chambers USA–America's Leading Business Lawyers). Los Angeles Magazine and Law & Politics Magazine has selected me as a "Super Lawyer" and among the Top 100 Lawyers every year of its survey. I have also been selected repeatedly as one of the Top 10 Attorneys in Southern California in the same survey. The Governors of The College of Labor and Employment Lawyers inducted me as a Fellow of the College.

4. I have been acknowledged both nationally and internationally as one of the leading civil rights, employment, plaintiff-side labor and constitutional law attorneys, as recognized in "The Best Lawyers in America," "Euromoney Publications," "Guide to the Worlds' Leading Labour and Employment Lawyers" (since 1999), "America's Registry of Outstanding Professionals," as well as the National and International "Who's Who of Professionals."

5. My partners and associates have been repeatedly selected as "Super Lawyers" and "Rising Stars." They have received numerous accolades in their own right.

6. I have co-authored three law review articles: Stormer and Bernstein, The Impact of Kolender v. Lawson on Law Enforcement and Minority Groups, 12 HASTINGS CONSTITUTIONAL LAW QUARTERLY 105 (1984); Stormer and Ferber, Legal Responses to Unconstitutional Termination of Disability Benefits, 22 IDAHO LAW REVIEW 201 (1985-1986); and Stormer and Richardson, The Graying of America: Age Discrimination in the Nineties, 26 WEST LOS ANGELES LAW REVIEW 189 (1995). I previously wrote a monthly column for the Matthew Bender California Labor and Employment Bulletin. I have contributed to literally dozens of other publications, including a chapter in the James Publications Book: Sexual Harassment.

7. I have been the subject of numerous Daily Journal profiles (including May 2005, August 14, 1989, and December 1985), numerous Top 100 Lawyer and Top Labor and Employment profiles, as well as one profile in each of the following publications: Los Angeles Lawyer (December 1984), California Lawyer (December 1988), Legal Exchange (May 1990), California Law Business (November 1993) and the Pasadena Star News (April 20, 2005). Several academic institutions have also written profiles on me, including the Wagner College alumni journal (Fall 2008) and the Santa Monica Community College semi-annual publication "Voices on Higher Education" in 1998.

8. During the past 42 years, I have taught at over 250 legal programs and seminars as well as having been a key note and graduation speaker. I have been a law school commencement address speaker, including at The Thomas Jefferson School of Law. I have taught at Hastings College of Law (Trial Advocacy, Pre-Trial Criminal Procedure), Loyola College of Law (Prisoners' Rights), San Fernando Valley College of Law (Trial Advocacy), and at Southwestern University College of Law (Political Trials). I have also taught trial advocacy for the National Institute of Trial Advocacy, Hastings College of Trial Advocacy, and California Institute of Trial advocacy. I have lectured extensively on civil rights and harassment to students, CEB organizations and community groups.

9. In addition to presenting at academic institutions and community organizations, I am often asked to speak to legal groups on various issues concerning civil rights and trials. For instance, I have presented to the Los Angeles Trial Lawyers Association (on the issue of how to try an employment discrimination case), the Los Angeles County Labor Law Section (many times, including on "The Care and Feeding of Juries"), the California Employment Law Council (several times), the Consumer Attorneys of California (the "Masters Series" involving, as the Association describes it, "prominent successful attorneys," where I presented a closing argument), and to the annual California State Bar Labor and Employment law symposium (key-note speaker as well as numerous times as a panelist). I have also spoken on civil rights trials and cases at seminars presented by MALDEF, ACLU, Consumer Attorneys of California, Consumer Attorneys Association of Los Angeles, Florida Trial Lawyers, Western Trial Lawyers Association, National Employment Lawyers Association, Los Angeles County Bar, California State Bar, National Lawyers Guild, California Trial Lawyers Association, American Trial Lawyers Association, Association of Business Trial Lawyers, The National Institute of Trial Advocacy, California Employment Lawyers Association, as well as many others. I have presented at several ABA conventions and at literally hundreds of trial practice workshops and other legal educational seminars.

10. I have received a number of awards, including: The Freedom Now Award from the Los Angeles Community Action Network in 2016, the Religious Liberty Award by the ACLU in 2012, Certificate of Special Congressional Recognition (by Congressman Howard L. Berman, in 2012), LGBT Award (the ACLU Foundation of Southern California, in 2007), The Honorable Robert W. Kenny Award (the Los Angeles Chapter of the National Lawyers Guild, in 2005), Los Angeles Regional Social Justice Award (Occidental College - Urban & Environmental Policy Institute, in 2006), Certificate of Recognition for Human Rights Legal Representation (California State Assembly), Joseph Posner Award (California Employment Lawyer's Association, in 2005), Certificate of Recognition for Fighting Discrimination (California State Assembly Resolution), Commendation by the Los Angeles Office of the City Attorney (for outstanding contribution to the citizens of Los Angeles, in 1995), the California Lieutenant Governor's Commendation (for longstanding commitment to ensure equal justice and for service to the community, in 1995), the Pursuit of Justice Award (California Women's Law Center, in 1995), California Assembly Resolution (honoring me for my commitment to civil rights, constitutional law and public interest law, in 1995), the Clarence Darrow Award (People's College of Law, in 1991), the Hollywood Fair Housing Council Award (1989), Pro Bono Firm of the Year (Public Counsel Law Center, in 1987), and the Pro Bono Service Award (Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles, in 1986).

11. Attached as Exhibit A is a true copy of my current list of Awards and Activities.

12. I have co-counseled with many highly regarded organizations, including the American Civil Liberties Union, the Center for Constitutional Rights, the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, the Mexican-American Legal Defense Fund, various legal aid societies, Public Counsel, and the Western Center on Law and Poverty. These co-counseling arrangements have been required because most of the legal work in which I have been involved impacts on diverse interest groups, involves novel and complex issues of fact and law, and demands huge resources to conduct the type of discovery and litigation required.

13. I have represented a wide range of clients in the civil rights area. I would estimate that I have been co-counsel on at least 40 civil rights class actions. These class actions have involved a wide range of public interest issues including, but not limited to ERISA, 42 U.S.C. § 1983, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Unfair Business and Practices under California Business & Professions Code § 17200, Immigrants' Rights, Employment Law, Consumer Rights, Welfare Rights and Voting Rights.

14. I have tried many cases to juries. On a number of occasions I have achieved verdicts of a million dollars or more. Examples are Martin v. Texaco ($20 million), Denise Steffens v. Regus ($4.6 million); Schell v. Parks ($4.31 million), Zinzun v. City of Los Angeles ($3.84 million), Ruiz v. Jackson ($1.6 million), Wysinger v. The Automobile Club of Southern California ($1.3 million), and Bonsangue v. ADP (slightly over $1 million). I have been co-counsel or lead counsel in scores of cases which have settled for seven or eight figures (no decimals included).

PUBLISHED CASES

United States Supreme Court:

15. In National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) v. Nelson, 131 S. Ct. 1755 (2010), I co-counseled for respondent scientists, engineers, and administrative personnel contract employees working for California Institute of Technology (Caltech) at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL). We urged the Supreme Court to hold that NASA's background investigation into confidential medical treatment or counseling for drug use and adverse information including private sexual matters of low-risk, long-time employees, violated the employees' Constitutional right to informational privacy.

16. In County of Riverside v. McLaughlin, 111 S.Ct. 1661 (1991), I argued before the Supreme Court that the County of Riverside's practice of exceeding a 48-hour period in making probable cause determinations of arrested individuals was unconstitutional. The Supreme Court held that the County of Riverside was not immune from systemic challenges such as this class action.

17. In the matter of Wayte v. United States, 105 S.Ct. 1524 (1985), I was co-counsel for David Wayte. We urged the Supreme Court to hold the Government's passive enforcement system for Selective Service nonregistrants and its policy to persuade nonregistrants to change their minds violated the First and Fifth Amendment.

18. I filed an amicus brief in Heckler v. Campbell, 103 S.Ct. 1952 (1983), urging the Supreme Court to affirm the decision of the Court of Appeals which held the Secretary of Health and Human Services' guidelines setting forth rules to determine whether a job existed for a disability benefits claimant did not provide adequate evidence of specific alternative jobs that respondent could perform.

19. In Kolender v. Lawson, 103 S.Ct. 1855 (1983), I filed an amicus brief urging the Supreme Court to affirm the decision of the Court of Appeals, which held that a California statute requiring persons who loiter or wander on the streets to identify themselves when requested by a peace officer was constitutionally vague on its face because it encouraged arbitrary enforcement.

20. In Youngberg v. Romeo, 102 S.Ct. 2452 (1982), I filed an amicus brief on behalf of Mental Health Advocacy Services et al. urging the Supreme Court to protect respondent's constitutional right to safe conditions of confinement and freedom from unreasonable bodily restraints.

21. In Cabell v. Chavez-Salido, 102 S.Ct. 735 (1982), I was co-counsel on appellees' brief arguing that a California statute that required probation officers to be United States citizens was unconstitutional.

Federal Courts of Appeal:

22. In Obaydullah v. Obama, 609 F.3d 444 (2010), I was co-counsel for a Guantanamo Bay inmate. We successfully obtained a trial on his petition for writ of habeas corpus.

23. In Doe v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., 572 F.3d 677 (9th Cir. 2009), I was co-counsel for workers in defendant's suppliers' garment factories in China, Bangladesh, Indonesia, Swaziland, and Nicaragua, as well as in California. We argued that defendant was negligent in undertaking and retaining control of contracts with its suppliers, and breached these supply contracts by failing to adequately monitor suppliers' factories to ensure compliance with basic labor standards that suppliers were required to meet. Moreover, we argued that defendant imposed difficult time and price requirements on suppliers to force suppliers to violate the standards. We argued defendant's breach resulted in harm to plaintiffs, who were third party beneficiaries to the contract, including lost pay and benefits for California workers due to unfair competitive disadvantage, and various poor working conditions for foreign workers, including excessive hours or days of work, withheld pay, confiscation of withheld pay, overtime without pay, less than minimum-wage pay, denial of overtime pay, less than required rest periods, lack of safety equipment, denial of maternity benefits, discrimination because of union activities, and physical abuse.

24. In the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in the matter of Boyd v. City of Hermosa Beach, 321 Fed. Appx. 584 (9th Cir. 2009), I was co-counsel for citizens subjected to police force while exercising their First Amendment rights. I successfully urged the court to uphold the lower courts denial of qualified immunity to one defendant sergeant for his unlawful and excessive use of force against one plaintiff picketer when he pushed her twice though she was not committing any dangerous crime, did not pose any threat to the officer, was not resisting arrest, and was not attempting to flee.

25. In the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in the matter of Nelson v. NASA, 530 F.3d 865 (9th Cir. 2008), we were counsel for JPL employees in non-sensitive "low risk" positions who were subjected to defendant NASA's extensive and unlawful background investigation of appellants. We successfully argued that questionnaires that asked low risk contract employees to disclose information considering financial integrity, abuse of alcohol and/or drug abuse, any treatment or counseling received for drug abuse, mental or emotional stability, and to sign an open-ended waiver authorizing the government to collect "any information ... from schools, residential management agents, employers, criminal justice agencies, retail business establishments, or other sources of information" "includ[ing], but ... not limited to ... academic, residential, performance, attendance, disciplinary, employment history, and criminal history record information" implicated a constitutional right to informational privacy, and the government failed to demonstrate the questions were narrowly tailored to meet legitimate government interests. I also successfully moved for denial of rehearing en banc. See Nelson v. NASA, 568 F.3d 1028, 1029 (9th Cir. 2009).

26. I was co-counsel in Paige v. California, 233 Fed. Appx. 646 (9th Cir. 2007), where we represented a minority employee and similarly situated minority employees in the California Highway Patrol (CHP). Using statistical evidence of disparate treatment to support a claim that plaintiffs were excluded for promotions under Title VII through the to use of CHP promotional examinations for a particular period of time, I successfully urged the court to find error in the district court's rejection as insignificant any of the statistical results we offered on behalf of our clients showing a disparity of greater than 1.96 standard deviations. The court rejected the district courts use of a threshold higher than 1.96 standard deviation as a result of our work.

27. In Merritt v. Am. Stores Co., 154 Fed. Appx. 637 (9th Cir. 2005), I was co-counsel for employees who sued defendant Lucky Stores for hostile work environment. We successfully appealed the district courts motion for summary judgment against our clients due to their erroneous finding that the incidents alleged were not serious enough to overlook their infrequency and not severe enough to change the conditions of employment. In fact, we presented evidence sufficient to reverse the district courts finding and remand for further consideration.

28. As co-counsel for a flight attendant with a disability in Salisbury v. Delta Air Lines, Inc., 126 Fed. Appx. 368 (9th Cir. 2005), we argued defendant employer failed to reasonably accommodate plaintiff's disability, discriminated against due to her disability, subjected her to adverse employment action when it demoted her from flight attendant to a clerical position, and failed to engage plaintiff in a good faith interactive process to reasonably accommodate her as required by California's Fair Employment and Housing Act.

29. In the case of John Doe v. Unocal Corp., 2002 U.S. App. LEXIS 19263, at *1 (9th Cir. Dec. 3, 2001), I was co-counsel for plaintiffs who were workers from Myanmar, formerly Burma. We argued that the Myanmar government, in joint venture with UNOCAL Corp. and other entities had perpetrated numerous human rights violations including forced labor, physical violence, and forced relocation. The Ninth Circuit held that there was sufficient evidence to preclude summary judgment on whether the defendants aided and abetted the Myanmar military in subjecting the workers to forced labor, murder, and rape. The case was remanded to the district court.

30. Standing Committee on Discipline of U.S. Dist. Court for Cent. Dist. Of California v. Yagman, 55 F.3d 1430 (9th Cir. 1995), I filed an amicus brief in support of an attorney against whom disciplinary proceedings were brought for exercising his First Amendment rights by making statements criticizing a judge.

31. In the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in the matter of American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee v. Reno, 70 F.3d 1045 (9th Cir. 1995), I was co-counsel for appellants who claimed that the Immigration and Naturalization Service had selectively enforced immigration laws in violation of appellants' First Amendment rights. The Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit affirmed the United States District Court for the Central District in California's decision to grant a preliminary injunction against the INS in the proceedings to deport six of the plaintiffs, and vacated the decision that the District Court lacked jurisdiction to consider the selective enforcement claim of the two remaining plaintiffs.

32. In Stewart v. Gates, 987 F.2d 1450 (9th Cir. 1993), I argued the district court's award of attorneys' fees in an underlying civil rights litigation concerning prison conditions in Orange County, California should not be reversed because the fees were "reasonable" in light of the Kerr factors – novelty or difficulty of the case, the preclusion of other employment, time limitations, the amount at stake, the results attained and the undesirability of the case – and a fee enhancement was necessary to the determination of a reasonable fee.

33. In McLaughlin v. County of Riverside, 888 F.2d 1276 (9th Cir. 1989), I successfully argued before the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals on behalf of a claim of detainees seeking to enjoin the County of Riverside's practice of exceeding a 48-hour period while making probable cause determinations of arrested individuals.

34. In Martinez v. Winner, 771 F.2d 424 (10th Cir. 1985), I participated in Appellant's brief claiming that defendants deprived plaintiff of his civil and constitutional rights and conspired to get plaintiff into prison on unsubstantiated criminal charges.

35. In the matter of Morales-Alvarado v. INS, 655 F.2d 172 (9th Cir. 1981), I was counsel for petitioner and argued that the Board of Immigration Appeals improperly considered petitioner's criminal conviction in exercising its decision to deny petitioner's application for voluntary departure.

36. In Leeds v. Watson, 630 F.2d 674 (9th Cir. 1980), I successfully argued for appellants before the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals that conditions in the Kootenai County Jail (Idaho) were not fit for the confinement of prisoners.

37. I was counsel in Hooker v. United States Department of Health and Human Services, 858 F.2d 525 (9th Cir. 1988), and argued that plaintiff's husband's disability benefits had been wrongfully terminated in a manner which should allow Tort liability.

Federal District Courts:

38. In Pierce v. County of Orange, —F. Supp.2d—, 2011 WL 68843 (C.D. Cal.), I was co-counsel in a class action representing pretrial detainees in the county jail. We successfully argued that physical barriers to accessibility of jail facilities and certain categories of programs, services, and activities which were not available to the mobility-impaired and dexterity-impaired sub-class of detainees, violated the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

39. In Rosenstock v. L.A. Unified Sch. Dist., 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 108187 (C.D. Cal. 2009), I was counsel for an employee of Millikan Middle School under the Los Angeles Unified School District and successfully presented evidence sufficient to withstand summary judgment of plaintiff's hostile work environment, sexual harassment, and retaliation claims, and defeated the defendant's argument that plaintiff failed to exhaust her administrative remedies because she only alleged "harassment" in her DFEH/EEOC charge. In addition to arguing that my client was subjected to unwelcome sexual advances by her supervisor both inside and outside the workplace that were "sufficiently work-related", which constituted sexual harassment within the meaning of the Title VII, I also successfully argued that the test to determine whether a plaintiff exhausted administrative remedies is whether the discriminatory acts in the lawsuit are likely or reasonably related to the allegations in the administrative charge, rather than simply observing which box was checked off on behalf of the plaintiff in the DFEH/EEOC forms, as defendants argued.

40. In Bardzik v. County of Orange, 605 F. Supp. 2d 1076 (C.D. Cal. 2009), I was co-counsel for a police lieutenant who, in retaliation for the exercise of his First Amendment rights in supporting the political challenger of Sheriff Corona, the County of Orange County and the Orange County Sheriff Department rescinded a promised promotion, denied pay raises, prevented further promotion, transferred the lieutenant to a less prestigious position, and fabricated wrongdoing by the lieutenant, which resulted in an internal investigation. I argued that the lieutenant's duties and role were not that of a policy-making position where political affiliation was a reasonably appropriate requirement for the job, and even if they were, the retaliation against him exceeded the scope of the policymaker exception; that defendants engaged in unnecessary harassment against the lieutenant, that the retaliation was motivated to further a scheme of corrupt activities, and that the lieutenant's claims were not barred by qualified immunity. The court denied the defendant's motion for summary judgment on my client's First Amendment claim.

41. In Wang v. Chinese Daily News, Inc., 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 82538 (C.D. Cal. 2008), I was co-counsel for a class consisting of former and current employees of a newspaper based in Los Angeles which was found by a jury to have violated the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), the California Business and Professions Code, and sections of the California Labor Code. We successfully argued the newspaper failed to give plaintiffs meal and rest breaks, to pay overtime, and to pay for vacations, resulting in a jury verdict in favor of plaintiffs on all causes of action and an award of over $5.2 million in employment law and wage and hour damages, which was upheld by the United States District Court for the Central District of California.

42. In Nguon v. Wolf, 517 F. Supp. 2d 1177 (C.D. Cal. 2007), I was co-counsel for a female high school student who was suspended for "inappropriate public display of affection" due to kissing another female student on campus. I argued that the defendant school officials violated the student's right to equal protection and her First Amendment right to freedom of expression by disciplining her, and her privacy right under the California Constitution when the principal disclosed to the student's mother, who was unaware of her daughter's sexual orientation until the disclosure, that she had been kissing another girl.

43. In Fitzgerald v. City of Los Angeles, 485 F. Supp. 2d 1137 (C.D. Cal. 2007), I was co-counsel for residents of a city who, after initially filing suit against defendant law enforcement officials alleging that the officials' policy of arbitrarily stopping, detaining and searching individuals or groups of individuals who appeared to be homeless, or appeared to be residents of the area in question, violated their Fourth Amendment rights, entered into a settlement agreement with law enforcement, which included a permanent injunction prohibiting searches in question. I argued for the extension of the injunction, which the court granted for a period of four months, holding that arbitrary, capricious or harassing searches of all individuals, regardless of their probation or parole status, violated both federal and California law.

44. In C.N. v. Wolf, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 97121 (C.D. Cal.2006), I filed a Motion in Limine to exclude the testimony of the School defendant's expert on the grounds that his testimony was not within the ken of expert testimony and that he was not timely designated. I also successfully defeated several Motions in Limine filed by defendant, including a motion to exclude evidence of a 2001 disciplining of a same-sex female couple at the school, as it was evidence relevant to plaintiff's showing of disparate treatment; a motion to exclude evidence of emotional or psychological injury sustained by plaintiff as part of pain and suffering; and a motion to exclude three photographs that depicted heterosexual students engaging in inappropriate public displays of affection, or "PDA", because the court recognized that a high prevalence of PDA may have been sufficient to establish that administrators saw, or ignored, PDA among heterosexual couples.

45. In Wang v. Chinese Daily News, Inc., 236 F.R.D. 485 (C.D. Cal 2006), after the court issued an order approving class notice, and after plaintiffs mailed notice to putative class members and defendants provided notice and opt-out forms in its workplace, we filed a motion to invalidate the returned opt-outs, to restrict defendants' communications with the class, and for post-judgment curative notice, due to circumstances surrounding the opt out period. The court found that the opt-outs submitted in the lawsuit were a product of a coercive environment that pressured employees to opt out lest they risk losing their jobs, and coupled with the ongoing employer-employee relationship between the class and defendants, were not a product of independent decision-making and thus invalid. The court also granted our remaining motions, sustained our objections to the statements of four employees because they were members of the class for purposes of injunctive and declarative relief, and overruled several of defendants' objections to statements by four employees and other witnesses.

46. In the matter of Bowoto v. Chevron, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 4603 (2004), I was co-counsel for plaintiffs who were Nigerian workers. We argued that Chevron, along with its foreign subsidiaries in Nigeria, and in joint venture with the Nigerian government, perpetrated numerous human rights violations. The violations included firing live ammunition at workers staging a protest on Chevron Texaco Corporation's subsidiary Chevron Nigeria Limited's oil platform, killing two workers. The defendants filed motions for summary judgment on all plaintiffs' federal claims and pendent state law claims. The Court determined that the plaintiffs' claims as to Chevron Nigeria Limited's liability based on an agency, aiding and abetting, and ratification theory would proceed forward. The District Court granted defendants' motion for summary judgment as to Chevron's direct liability and alter-ego liability.

47. In the matter of Cummings v. Western Trial Lawyers Ass'n, 133 F. Supp.2d 1144 (D. Ariz. 2001), I was co-counsel on behalf of defendants in an action brought by a former full-time executive director who alleged causes of action for defamation, breach of contract, breach of the duty of good faith and fair dealing, intentional infliction of emotional distress, intentional interference with a business relationship, false light, and quantum meruit. The court granted our motion to dismiss as to plaintiff's intentional interference with business relationship claim.

48. In the case of York v. County of El Dorado, 119 F. Supp. 2d 1106 (E.D. Cal. 2000), I was co-counsel for a class of plaintiff prisoners who sued the defendant county over conditions at the county's jails, such as the overcrowded jail populations at the Placerville and South Lake Tahoe jail facilities. By formal agreement, the plaintiff class and defendant county agreed to a limit on jail population. The stipulation and order of the court approving the settlement agreement had no provision for the court's retention of jurisdiction for enforcement. The defendant county moved to terminate the injunctive or prospective relief contained in the settlement. The court denied the defendant's motion for lack of jurisdiction.

49. In the case of John Doe v. Unocal Corp, 110 F. Supp. 2d 1294 (C.D. Cal. 2000), I was co-counsel for plaintiffs who were workers from Myanmar, formerly Burma. We argued that the Myanmar government, in joint venture with UNOCAL corp. and other entities had perpetrated numerous human rights violations including forced labor, physical violence, and forced relocation. The defendant filed motions for summary judgment on all plaintiffs' federal claims and pendent state law claims. The District Court granted defendant's motion for summary judgment as to plaintiffs' federal claims and remanded the pendent claims back to state court.

50. In the case of John Doe v. Unocal Corp., 67 F. Supp. 2d 1140 (C.D. Cal. 1999), I was co-counsel for plaintiffs who were workers and residents of Myanmar, formerly Burma. We argued that plaintiffs should be granted class certification on the grounds that plaintiffs faced future injury based on defendant's conduct. The District Court denied our motion for class certification but held that plaintiffs could assert their individual claims because they faced a substantial probability of forced repatriation.

51. In the case of John Doe v. Unocal Corp., 27 F. Supp. 2d 1174 (C.D. Cal. 1998), I was co-counsel for plaintiffs who were farmers and residents of Myanmar, formerly Burma. We argued that UNOCAL Corp., along with the Myanmar government, and Total S.A., a French Corporation, had perpetrated human rights violations in furtherance of defendants joint venture. Defendant Total S.A. filed a motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction. The District Court granted Total S.A.'s motion.

52. In the case of John Doe v. UNOCAL Corp., 963 F. Supp. 880 (C.D. Cal. 1997), I was co-counsel for plaintiffs who were workers and residents of Myanmar, formerly Burma. We argued that UNOCAL, in a joint venture with the Myanmar government and other entities had perpetrated numerous human rights violations including but not limited to physical violence, forced labor, forced relocation, false imprisonment, rape, and murder. Defendant filed a motion to dismiss plaintiffs' complaint. The District Court denied the motion in part and granted in part. The court denied defendant UNOCAL's Fed. R. Civ. P 12(b)(6) motion. The court held that SLORC (the Myanmar government), and MOGE, were entitled to sovereign immunity and were not indispensable parties under Fed. R. Civ. P. 19. The District Court further held that subject matter jurisdiction over the remaining plaintiffs was available under the Alien Tort Claims Act. The District Court granted plaintiffs' leave to amend on the issues of continuing violations and a claim brought under the California Business and Professions Code.

53. In the matter of Bureerong v. Uvawas, 922 F. Supp. 1450 (C.D. Cal. 1996), I was counsel for plaintiffs who were workers from Thailand and argued that plaintiffs had been falsely imprisoned and employed in a system of involuntary servitude. The common law claims and the FLSA claims were presented in a unique fashion. The court ruled that we had properly stated a cause of action. See also Bureerong v. Uvawas, 167 F.R.D. 83 (C.D. Cal. 1996) and Bureerong v. Uvawas, 959 F.Supp. 1231 (C.D. Cal. 1997).

54. In the case of Richard v. City of Pasadena, 889 F. Supp. 384 (C.D. Cal. 1995), I was counsel for plaintiff whom the court determined to be the prevailing party and awarded plaintiff attorneys' fees against the City of Pasadena.

55. In American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee v. Reno, 883 F. Supp. 1365 (C.D. Cal. 1995), the District Court had granted a preliminary injunction against the selective enforcement of immigration laws and had issued a permanent injunction against the use of undisclosed information to adjudicate appellants' legalization applications.

56. In the matter of Ragge v. MCA/Universal Studios, 165 F.R.D. 601 (C.D.

Cal. 1995), I was counsel for plaintiff and filed a successful Motion to Compel Production of resumes and job applications in the personnel files of named defendants.

57. In another Federal Rules Decision, Ragge v. MCA/Universal Studios, 165 F.R.D. 605 (C.D. Cal. 1995), I argued that two conditions be attached to the mental examination of my client. First, that the tests to be conducted be disclosed in advance of the examination and second, that a third party observer be present at the examination.

58. In Bullfrog Films v. Catto, 815 F. Supp. 338 (C.D. Cal. 1993), I was counsel for plaintiffs who were granted attorneys' fees, costs, and expenses against the United States.

59. In the matter of Benson v. County of Orange, 788 F. Supp. 1123 (C.D. Cal. 1992), I was counsel for plaintiffs and argued for an injunction against the County's reduction of jail visitation times.

60. I was counsel for plaintiff in Kaiser v. County of Sacramento, 780 F. Supp. 1309 (E.D. Cal. 1991), and argued for a preliminary injunction to provide adequate legal access to law books and legal assistance.

61. In the matter of Lopez v. Heckler, 572 F. Supp. 26 (C.D. Cal. 1983), I was counsel for a class of plaintiffs that were challenging the procedure used to terminate Social Security disability benefits.

62. In the case of U.S. v. Wayte, 549 F. Supp. 1376 (C.D. Cal. 1982), I was co-counsel for a defendant who had been indicted for failing to register for the draft under § 3 of the Military Selective Service Act. We filed a motion to dismiss the indictment on the grounds that the United States failed to rebut the court's prima facie finding of selective prosecution. The court granted defendant's motion and dismissed the indictment because defendant showed that the United States could have located non-vocal non-registrants but chose not to and that defendant was singled out for prosecution because he exercised his right to free speech under the First Amendment of the United States Constitution.

63. In Champagne v. Hygrade Food Products, Inc., 79 F.R.D. 671 (E.D. Wash. 1978), I was counsel for plaintiff and submitted a motion to take oral depositions by non-stenographic means and to record the proceedings by a separate tape recorder. Plaintiffs' motion was granted.

California Supreme Court:

64. Rosenthal v. Great Western Financial Securities Corp. (1996) 14 Cal.4th 394. This was an action in which the Supreme Court of the State of California interpreted, among other things, the applicability of the United States Arbitration Act to California courts. The Court also determined what the standards were for setting aside an arbitration agreement. I argued this matter before the Court.

65. I was counsel for appellants in Del Monte v. Wilson (1992) 1 Cal.4th 1009, and argued before the Supreme Court of California that a statute that conditioned the distribution of veterans' benefits on California residency violated appellants' constitutional right to equal protection of the laws. The court affirmed the decision of the Court of Appeals in Del Monte v. Deukmejian (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 1213, and found the statute violative of the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution. I argued this matter before the California Supreme Court.

66. In the matter of City of Torrance v. Transitional Living Centers for Los Angeles, Inc. (1982) 30 Cal.3d 516, I filed an amicus brief on behalf of Respondent urging the court to affirm the trial court's decision to deny a preliminary injunction that would prevent the Defendant from maintaining a facility for mental patients in a classified zone of the Appellant City of Torrance.

California Courts of Appeal:

67. In Grobeson v. City of Los Angeles, 190 Cal.App. 4th 778 (2d Dist. 2010), as co-counsel for appellant in his discrimination, retaliation and constructive discharge case, we were successful in upholding the trial court's order granting a motion for a new trial on the ground of juror misconduct.

68. In the education-rights action of Coachella Valley Unified School Dist. v. State of California (2009), 176 Cal. App. 4th 93, I was co-counsel to nine public school districts challenging California's failure to comply with the No Child Left Behind Act with respect to students who are not yet proficient in English. We challenged defendant's refusal to provide reasonable accommodations on assessments of students with limited English proficiency, and explained how California, unlike fourteen other states, refuses to utilize a Spanish-language test or a modified-English language test that reduces unnecessary linguistic complexity. See also Coachella Valley Unified Sch. Dist v. California, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 44825 (N.D. Cal. 2005).

69. In Cundiff v. Verizon, California, Inc. (2008), 167 Cal. App. 4th 718, after securing a settlement for three main sub-classes of consumers of a 170,000-member class who were wrongfully charged for obsolete or nonexistent telephones for fifteen years without their knowledge by the defendant telephone companies, we filed a motion to amend the judgment in order to direct the settlement administrator to pay approximately $414,000 in unclaimed funds on a pro rata basis to the charities named in the settlement agreement. While the trial court rejected the motion, the Court of Appeals reversed and remanded, finding that the definition of "unpaid residue" under section 384 of the Code of Civil Procedure accurately described the unclaimed funds at issue in our case, as indicated by the plain meaning of the words of the statute and its legislative history.

70. In the matter of Wysinger v. Automobile Club of Southern California (2007), 157 Cal. App. 4th 413, I represented an employee under FEHA who contended he had been unlawfully discriminated and retaliated against by his employer. I successfully argued that the court uphold the jury's verdict that found that the employer retaliated against my client because he filed an age discrimination claim, and the employer failed to engage in an interactive process regarding his disability, the latter finding which I argued was not inconsistent with the jury's finding that the employer did not fail to provide a required reasonable accommodation to my client for his disability. The court also found in our favor that the jury award of $1million in punitive damage was not excessive because the employer's conduct supported these damages when a supervisor threatened to "crush managers" who opposed a new compensation plan that disproportionately reduced the compensation of older workers.

71. In Motevalli v. Los Angeles Unified School District, (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th 97, I represented an LAUSD school teacher who was not rehired because of her political activities. The court set the standards by which such non-renewal can take place.

72. In Cundiff v. Bell Atlantic Corp. (2002) 101 Cal.App.4th 1395, I represented a class of consumers who contended that defendant telephone companies charged them for obsolete or nonexistent telephones for fifteen years without their knowledge. The trial court sustained defendants' demurrer on the ground that the Public Utilities Commission had primary jurisdiction over the matter alleged in the complaint. The appellate court disagreed and reversed, holding that the consumers stated facts sufficient to constitute multiple causes of action.

73. Beyda v. City of Los Angeles (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 511. The Court of Appeals on this matter determined the admissibility of evidence of defendant's harassment of other employees. There had been, prior to this case, questions about whether such evidence was admissible. The Court in Beyda determined that such evidence is, in fact, admissible under Government Code § 12940 and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The Court determined that harassment of other individuals was admissible even if the acts were not committed in the presence of the plaintiff.

74. I represented Appellants before the California Court of Appeals in Planned Parenthood v. City of Santa Maria (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 685, and argued that the Respondent City of Santa Maria could not condition the receipt of public funds upon the recipient's agreement not to provide abortion services. The Court of Appeals agreed and affirmed the trial court's decision that a government entity may not offer a grant of public funds on condition that the recipient waive the constitutional right to privacy.

75. In the matter of Martin v. Fisher (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 118, I was counsel for Appellant and argued successfully before the Court of Appeals of California that the trial court erred in dismissing appellant's claims against respondent for failure to exhaust administrative remedies.

76. I was counsel for appellants in Castro v. Los Angeles City Board of Supervisors (1991) 232 Cal.App.3d 1432, and sought a preliminary injunction against a nonprofit corporation that provided legal services in dependency court because the representation of multiple parties with potentially adverse interests created a conflict of interest within the corporation and among its attorneys.

77. In the matter of Smith v. State Bar of California (1989) 212 Cal.App.3d 971, I was co-counsel for Appellant and argued that the trial court erred in sustaining the State Bar's demurrer and dismissing appellant's action. Appellant was unable to take the bar examination for which he was registered and sued to compel the State Bar to transfer his fees to a subsequent test.

78. I have also represented plaintiffs in taxpayer suits. For instance, in the case of Gates v. Superior Court (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 301 [prohibition], I was co-counsel on behalf of plaintiff to recover money allegedly spent illegally by defendants.

79. I was counsel for Appellants in Mental Health Association in California v. Deukmejian (1986) 186 Cal.App.3d 1531, and sought declaratory and injunctive relief to require respondents to create rehabilitative programs for gravely disabled persons as alternatives to treatment at Metropolitan and Camarillo State Hospitals.

80. In the matter of In re Lambert (1983) 143 Cal.App.3d 239, I was counsel for Appellants and argued that a court order awarding conservator's costs and attorneys' fees from an estate that consists solely of Social Security income violated a federal statute that immunized Social Security benefits from garnishment or other legal process.

Colorado Supreme Court:

81. I argued for appellant in the matter of Augustino v. Colorado Dept. of Revenue, 193 Colo. 273 (1977), that the district court's revocation of appellant's driver's license was a violation of his right to equal protection.

Washington Supreme Court:

82. In the matter of In re Harris, 94 Wash.2d 430 (1980), I represented petitioners before the Supreme Court of Washington. Petitioners had been committed to state mental institutions under the criminal commitment statue and claimed that they should have been committed under the civil commitment statute.

83. I was counsel for respondent David Fry in Stack v. Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad Company, 94 Wash.2d 155 (1980), and argued before the Supreme Court of Washington that Respondent Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad Company could not counterclaim against its injured respondent employees or pursue a third party claim against other employee crew members for property damage allegedly caused by their negligence. The Supreme Court of Washington affirmed the trial court's dismissal of Milwaukee's counterclaim and third party actions.

84. In the matter of Brooks v. Rhay, 92 Wash.2d 876 (1979), I represented petitioner before the Supreme Court of Washington. Petitioner sought relief by writ of habeas corpus challenging the action of the Board of Prisons and Paroles ("Board") that changed the sentencing judge's decision that petitioner's sentence for second-degree assault run concurrently with a sentence for a prior conviction. The Board changed petitioner's sentence to run consecutively with his prior sentence. The case was remanded to the trial court for re-sentencing.

85. I was counsel for appellant in Dawson v. Hearing Committee, Washington State Penitentiary, 92 Wash.2d 391 (1979), and argued before the Supreme Court of Washington that disciplinary hearings in our state prisons are subject to judicial review under the Administrative Procedures Act.

86. In the matter of In re Myers, 92 Wash.2d 113 (1979), I was counsel for appellant whose husband had taken their children out of Washington and argued that the trial court in Washington had jurisdiction to make child custody determinations. The Supreme Court of Washington concluded that the trial court had personal jurisdiction over the parents and subject jurisdiction to decide questions of child custody, support and visitation.

Washington Courts of Appeal:

87. I represented appellant in the Court of Appeals of Washington in Toulou v. Department of Social & Health Services, 27 Wash.App.137 (1980), and argued that the Department of Social & Health Services' rule allowing the department to withhold public assistance payments for two months denied appellant equal protection of the laws.

88. In the matter of In re Bush, 26 Wash.App.486 (1980), I was counsel for petitioner and challenged the mandatory minimum sentence fixed by the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles. The Court of Appeals of Washington held that the setting of the minimum term did not comport with procedural due process and remanded to the Parole Board for further proceedings.

89. I was counsel for appellants in the matter of Rice v. Department of Social & Health Services, 26 Wash.App. 32 (1980), and challenged the validity of a regulation that provides that a person in need of non-continuing general medical assistance must notify the Department of Social & Health Services of that fact within 7 days of the date medical care is begun in order to receive coverage from the onset of care. The Court of Appeals of Washington ruled that the trial court erred in upholding the 7-day rule.

90. I was counsel for appellant in the matter of In re Reuben Hernandez, 25 Wash.App. 447 (1980), and sought to revoke an order that relinquished appellant's child to a private agency for adoption because appellant was mentally incompetent when she agreed to give up her child and her consent was procured by fraud. The Court of Appeal of Washington found insufficient evidence to prove that appellant was mentally incompetent when she agreed to give up her child or that her consent was procured by fraud.

91. In the matter of In re Williams, 21 Wash.App. 238 (1978), I was counsel for petitioner who sought relief after consecutive sentences for burglary and possession of stolen property were imposed by the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles ("Board"). I argued before the Washington Court of Appeals that petitioner had entered a guilty plea with the understanding that concurrent sentences would be imposed. The Court of Appeals held that petitioner was entitled to specific performance of his plea bargain and remanded the case to the Board for resentencing in accordance with the plea agreement.

92. I represented appellant in the matter of State v. Miller, 22 Wash.App. 960 (1979), and argued that appellant's plea bargain was involuntary induced by the prosecutor.

93. I was counsel for petitioners in the matter of In re McCoy, 22 Wash.App. 7 (1978), where petitioners sought resentencing after the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles set petitioners' sentences on two convictions to run consecutively. The court held that resentencing was not required.

94. After the decision in Brooks v. Rhay, 92 Wash.2d 876 (1979), which overruled McCoy, petitioners in McCoy, supra, sought reconsideration, in the matter of In re McCoy, 25 Wash.App. 600 (1980), I was again counsel for petitioners. The Washington Court of Appeals ordered that petitioners be returned to Spokane County Superior Court for resentencing.

95. As this case list demonstrates, I specialize in a wide range of complex civil and civil rights cases, not all of which are listed in the foregoing paragraphs. My firm is one of the most highly regarded civil rights litigation firms in California.

HADSELL STORMER'S INVOLVMENT IN THIS CASE

96. My firm became involved in the instant case in late March of 2011 at the request of Olu Orange. Initially, Mr. Orange contacted me and requested that we meet regarding a class action lawsuit he had recently filed and for which he hoped to have our assistance. I previously co-counseled with Mr. Orange on a case that he filed to protect picketing grocery workers from three cities' police departments. I knew that his practice involved work of community importance. Thus, I was happy to speak with him. Ms. Richardson and I met with Mr. Orange in person on April 7, 2011 to discuss the case.

97. When Mr. Orange explained to me that he had filed a class action lawsuit against the City of Los Angeles on behalf of alleged gang members challenging the imposition of curbs on Constitutional freedoms reminiscent of the Jim Crow Era, it occurred to me that this case would be heavily litigated and politically volatile. It also seemed like the type of case that my colleagues and I could help make successful – and through which we could better the lives of many people.

98. At the time I joined this case as counsel in March of 2011I did not view this case as a significant damages case for several reasons. In my experience litigating hundreds of civil rights cases representing all manners of plaintiff, it is highly unlikely that a jury would award significant damages against the City to hundreds or even thousands of gang members, given their perceived unpopularity. It was also my judgment that, for similar reasons, the City would be under enormous political not to agree to any settlement awarding money damages to Plaintiffs. My belief that this case would not likely result in money damages was reinforced by the emergence of case law during the early stage of this litigation interpreting the Bane Act to require some showing of force, intimidation, or coercion independent of the unlawful detention itself. See Gant v. Cnty. of Los Angeles, 765 F. Supp. 2d 1238, 1253-54 (C.D. Cal. 2011), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, 772 F.3d 608 (9th Cir. 2014), aff'd, No. 12-56080, 2014 WL 6613049 (9th Cir. 2014); Shoyoye v. Cnty. Of Los Angeles, 203

Cal. App. 4th 947, 959 (2012). I believed these cases increased the likelihood that the Court would decline to award statutory damages to class members who were merely served with one of the gang injunctions but who were not also arrested or detained on the basis of its unconstitutional provisions. We also explored the theory of presumed damages, but understood this to be a difficult theory to get significant damages. For all of these reasons, I believed at the time the critical litigation decisions were made that this case had a minimal likelihood of resulting in money damages exceeding the cost of the litigation of between 5% and 20%.

99. Upon our entry into the case, I planned an initial approach to the preliminary phases of the case, determined which personnel from our firm would be best suited to work on it, and assigned them to this case. I also had Mr. Orange send over a complete copy of the case file so that we could dissect it. At the same time, I began researching gang injunctions and assigned other staff to do the same.

100. Another one of my initial steps was to examine the original complaint for any needed amendments. While it was fine the way Mr. Orange drafted it, litigating 40-plus civil rights class actions has given me an eye for fine tuning and foresight as to how steps taken throughout the life of a case work out in the end. Thus, we collaborated to make small, but very important adjustments. I also emphasized to Mr. Orange that we would all have to be very flexible on many things moving forward because there would likely be more changes necessary.

101. For the duration of this case, I have been heavily involved in all aspects of the substantive work done. Additionally, the nature and number of my years in practice gave me the unique ability to help all the members of our plaintiffs' counsel team employ the best strategic approaches to accomplish our objectives for our clients. Thus, after the initial discovery phase, I reviewed, edited and/or drafted portions of every pleading, motion, brief and other paper filed in the case by all plaintiffs' counsel to make sure that every action we took was in line with the strategies we determined would achieve our objectives. This included all complaint amendments; motions and replies for class certification and preliminary injunction; the Ninth Circuit briefing; plaintiffs' motions for summary adjudication and portions of all the oppositions to motions for summary judgment, as well as the opposition to the motion for class decertification.

102. I also participated in meetings and telephone calls with clients, class members and community organizations; preparing for and taking certain depositions; collaborating with others in their preparation for depositions; recruiting and preparing expert witnesses. I was involved in all pretrial preparation, including all CACD LR-16 materials, motions in limine and oppositions thereto. I also argued at the hearing on those motions. I have prepared witness examinations, exhibit notes and mapped out various trial scenarios and protocols. I remain ready to try this case, should the need arise.

103. The settlement of this case occurred as a result of numerous negotiation sessions before Hon. Patrick J. Walsh, Hon. John E. McDermott and Hon. Louis M. Meisinger (Ret.), as well as several face-to-face meeting between counsel from both sides of the case. I made use of my familiarity with class action litigation, my successes at trial, experience as a negotiator, and my reputation as a relentless advocate in collaboration with my co-counsels' skills and reputations to advance plaintiffs' position until we reached a successful resolution. I also provided input on and edited the motion for preliminary approval of the settlement and the exhibits thereto, as well as the motion for attorney's fees to which this declaration is attached.

104. I have spent a total of 993.20 hours on this matter. I am requesting the rate of $1,075 per hour for my time on this case. As is set forth in the declarations of Carol Sobel, Barry Litt, Stephen Rohde and William Hake, that rate is reasonable and below average for a person of my reputation and experience in the Los Angeles, California legal market. Though it is lower than the market rate, that is also the rate at which I currently bill my clients who pay hourly. Moreover, for reasons as set forth herein below, and more particularly in the motion to which this declaration is attached, I am requesting a fee multiplier of 2.0.

RATES REQUESTED FOR OTHER ATTORNEYS AND STAFF AT OUR FIRM ARE REASONABLE

105. The hourly rates charged by my firm are consistent with those of comparable experience, expertise and skill in the community and demonstrate that Plaintiffs' class counsels rates are at and/or below market rate. In addition to my own time, work on this case was contributed by eleven other attorneys, eight legal assistants, seven law students, and three college students. The following table lists the rates that our firm charges for these individuals, the hours they contributed to this case, and the resulting reasonable fee:

106. The hourly rates I set forth above for my firm are the same rates we routinely charge for the clients we represent who are paying their own bills, and therefore are the same rates we charge where full payment is expected promptly upon the rendition of the billing, and without any contingency whatever. We do have a number of clients who pay an hourly rate. If any substantial part of the payment were to be deferred for any substantial period of time, or if payment were to be contingent upon outcome or any other factor, the fee arrangement would normally be adjusted upward accordingly to compensate the attorneys for risk and delay in payment.

107. During my more than forty years of law practice, I have become familiar with the kinds of fees that are prevalent in successful civil rights and public interest cases in Southern California. I have gained this knowledge through handling attorneys' fees litigation in the past, discussing fees with other attorneys practicing in these areas of law, reviewing attorneys' fees applications submitted by other firms, and serving as an expert on behalf of persons seeking attorneys' fees before various state and federal courts. Based on my experience and review, the rates in this case are well within the rates charged by attorneys of comparable experience, expertise, and skill in the Los Angeles market for employment cases of this type.

108. Since a substantial portion of my firm's practice involves public interest law, we rely upon attorney fee awards as a funding base for our firm.

109. The specific rates our firm charges for the attorneys listed in paragraph 105 reflect their respective market rates in light of each attorney's skill, reputation, and experience, which I summarize briefly below.

110. As more fully set forth in her own declaration, Anne Richardson is presently the Directing Attorney of the Consumer Law Project at Public Counsel. Before joining Public Counsel, from 1990-2014, she worked at Hadsell Stormer Richardson & Renick and its predecessors, serving as a partner from 1998 through 2014. Prior to joining the firm she clerked for the Honorable Mariana R. Pfaelzer, U.S. District Judge for the Central District of California. Ms. Richardson graduated with Distinction from Stanford Law School in 1989, and received her B.A. from Swarthmore College in 1984. In 2006, she was named a California Lawyer Attorney of the Year along with myself and Paul Hoffman for her work on the Doe v. Unocal case involving violations of international human rights law. She also received the ACLU of Southern California Pro Bono award. She has been named to the "SuperLawyers" list for Southern California by Los Angeles Magazine every year since 2004, and is regularly named to the Top 50 Women Lawyers in Southern California list. Ms. Richardson is rated AV Preeminent by Martindale Hubbell.

111. Ms. Richardson has taught Section 1983 Litigation as an Adjunct Professor at Loyola and Whittier Law Schools and is regularly asked to give lectures regarding public interest and class action litigation to lawyers, law students, and public interest organizations. She has also spoken to such organizations and institutions as: UCLA Law School, Loyola Law School, University of California Law School at Irvine, USC Law School, Occidental College, California Employment Lawyers Association, Los Angeles County Bar Association; State Bar of California Labor and Employment Section; Litigation Counsel of America, University of Colorado Law School, Rutgers Law School, National Academy of Arbitrators, and others.

112. In addition to this case, she has been co-lead counsel on numerous class actions in both state and federal court, including United Steel, et al. v. ConocoPhillips, CV 08-02068-PSG (FFMx), 593 F.3d 802 (9th Cir. 2010) (lead appellate counsel in wage and hour class action regarding "on duty" meal periods); Trujillo v. City of Ontario, EDCV 04-1015-VAP (SGLx), 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 79309 (C.D. Cal. 2009) (class action involving violations of right to privacy where police officers were videotaped in their locker room); Avery v. Orange County Transportation Authority, Case No. 07CC00004 (class action certified regarding excessive penalties in fines on toll roads and violation of due process); Fitzgerald v. City of Los Angeles, CV 03-01876-DDP (RZx), 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS (C.D. Cal. 2009) (class action challenging search and seizure policy of LAPD in Skid Row), and Paige v. State of California, 2007 U.S. App. LEXIS 12050 (9th Circuit 2007) (appeal from a two month trial alleging disparate impact in a failure to promote case). She has also worked on other class action cases in which my former firm was lead counsel, including Wang v. Chinese Daily News, CV 04-1498-CBM (AJWx) (class action alleging multiple wage and hour violations); Soto v. Starwood Hotels & Resorts Worldwide, Inc., BC 352849 (class action alleging meal and rest break violations), and Flores v. Albertsons, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26857 (C.D. Cal. 2003) (P. Anderson, J.) (overtime violations against janitorial staff). She has also been co-lead counsel on numerous other complex non-class cases.

113. Although Ms. Richardson performed work on this case at both our firm and at Public Counsel, our firm seeks fees only for her work performed during her tenure as a partner at our firm. Overall, Ms. Richardson was deeply involved in this case and was named Co-Lead Class Counsel in 2013 by this Court. Among other things, she was involved in amending the complaint; drafting and responding to discovery; meetings and telephone calls with the clients and class members; the hearing on the motion to compel further responses to discovery; reviewing discovery produced by the defendants; preparing for and taking certain depositions and overseeing the preparation by others of certain depositions; drafting the motion for class certification, with exhibits, and the reply brief; drafting the motion for preliminary injunction, with exhibits, and the reply brief; and she presented portions of the oral arguments at both hearings.

114. Ms. Richardson was lead appellate counsel for the plaintiffs in the Ninth Circuit after the City appealed this Court's Order granting a preliminary injunction. She took primary responsibility for the drafting of the respondents' brief, the supplemental briefing requested by the Court, and I handled the oral argument. That appeal involved complex issues of abstention and federal court jurisdiction.

115. Ms. Richardson coordinated and was partial author of the plaintiffs' motion for summary adjudication and all the oppositions to motions for summary judgment, and she argued some of those motions, as well as opposing the motion for class decertification, and she argued that motion. The cross motions for summary judgment involved numerous complex issues, including presumed damages, immunity under Section 1983, issue preclusion, constitutional issues, and abstention.

116. Ms. Richardson interviewed and provided information for plaintiffs' expert Edwina Barvosa, who ultimately produced an expert report regarding damages for the class. She attended her deposition and drafted an opposition to her testimony at trial. This involved complex issues of presumed damages for a class action, for which the case law is underdeveloped, at best. The court's ruling on this motion in limine, as well as the prior motions for summary judgment regarding damages, resulted in a ruling in which plaintiffs would be permitted to seek damages for the entire class at trial (although not statutory damages).

117. Ms. Richardson was involved in pretrial preparations, including drafting the Memorandum of Contentions of Law and Fact and guiding the drafting of the Pretrial Conference Order, Exhibit List, Witness List, some of the motions in limine and other pretrial documents. She guided the review of plaintiffs' database of class members from records received from the City and oversaw outreach as we got closer to trial to class members who had called for information during the case.

118. Ms. Richardson was involved in every stage of the settlement discussions. She was present at each of the settlement discussions with Judge Patrick Walsh, some in person and some over the telephone, and she drafted or partially drafted and reviewed the mediation briefs and the settlement proposal drafts that went back and forth. She also argued for plaintiffs' positions at mediation and negotiated along with my co-counsel extensively for over 6 months. She researched and guided the research by others of numerous issues raised by the settlement discussions. She spoke with community members, class members, and other attorneys who were interested in this case in order to obtain input and discuss possible resolution of the case. Ms. Richardson also provided input on and edited the motion for preliminary approval and the exhibits, and she guided the drafting of and edited the motion for attorney's fees and spent time drafting and collecting declarations in support thereof, as well as compiling the hours and the costs.

119. Gladys Limón received her J.D. from Stanford Law School in 2003. She worked as an Associate at Hadsell Stormer & Renick from February 2011 to January 2012. Prior to joining the firm, she spent several years at MALDEF, where she challenged policies and practices unlawfully discriminating against Latinos and immigrants. As a recipient of the Fried Frank Fellowship, Ms. Limón spent two years as a litigation associate at Fried, Frank, Harris, Shriver, and Jacobsen LLP in New York before joining MALDEF. Ms. Limón served as a law clerk to the Hon. Lawrence K. Karlton in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of California (2003-2005).

120. Ms. Limón was assigned to the case when we first became involved, and she performed many tasks for the case, including: she researched the claims in the complaint and what amendments could or should be made to the initial pleadings; developed the facts known publicly regarding the gang injunctions and the City's policies on them and drafted discovery requests for additional information necessary for the case; prepared for the Rule 26 meeting and drafted portions of the joint report; prepared the initial disclosures; researched legal issues for the case; communicated with the clients; participated in community meetings; prepared stipulations and ex parte applications as needed; reviewed discovery produced by the City and assisted with the motion to compel further responses.

121. Cindy Pánuco is an Associate at Hadsell Stormer & Renick, and will become the firm's newest partner in January 2017. Ms. Pánuco is the Immediate Past-President of the Mexican American Bar Association—one of the most prominent and largest Latina/o bar associations in the nation. She was one of the youngest Presidents to lead the organization whose members include attorneys, judges, elected officials, law school students and business people of many ethnic backgrounds. In 2013, Ms. Pánuco second-chaired a trial in which she and her co-counsel obtained an over $4.6 million jury verdict in the wrongful termination case of Denise Steffens v. Regus. She also served as class counsel in Pierce v. County of Orange et al., a class action that successfully challenged the conditions for disabled inmates at the Orange County jails. Ms. Pánuco is also a member of the team litigating Puente v. Arpaio et al., a case challenging the constitutionality of Arizona laws which make it a felony to use false documents to obtain work, and worksite raid operations ordered by Sheriff Arpaio to enforce these laws. Ms. Pánuco also represents Mr. Obaidullah, a prisoner at Guantánamo Bay, Cuba, in his petition for a writ of habeas corpus (Obaidullah v. Obama et al.) and Periodic Review Board hearing.

122. After just two years in practice, Ms. Pánuco was named to the Southern California Super Lawyers® - Rising Stars list in 2012, and every year since then through 2016. She was recently selected as a Ninth Circuit Judicial Conference Lawyer Representative. She is the immediate past President of the Mexican American Bar Association. She is active in numerous professional organizations, serving on the Diversity Committee of the California Employment Lawyers, the Young Lawyers Committee of the Latina Lawyers Bar Association and Loyola's Junior Alumni Advisory Group. She has also appeared in panels before bar associations and conferences and is frequently asked to speak at law schools and citizens' organizations. As a native Spanish speaker, Ms. Pánuco has also appeared as a guest commentator on Univision's know-your-rights segment, "Conozca Sus Derechos." Ms. Pánuco is a 2009 graduate of Loyola Law School. She has traveled to Mexico in order to provide training for Mexican lawyers.

123. Ms. Pánuco was assigned to the case after Ms. Limón left the firm. Ms. Pánuco worked on the case extensively from early 2012 until the present time. She worked on innumerable aspects of the case, including: she met with the plaintiffs and their families on numerous times, spoke with them by telephone frequently, answered their questions and kept them up to date, drafted their declarations and prepared them for depositions; researched sections of the motion for class certification and assisted with fact development, exhibits for the same; reviewed and summarized documents and data produced by the City; legal research on class certification and preliminary injunctions and drafted portions of the same; prepared for and attended numerous settlement discussions and researched issues in preparation for same; met with community members and community groups to discuss the case; answered many phone calls from class members and met with some of the same; reviewed and prepared potential statements from class members.

124. Ms. Pánuco also assisted with plaintiffs' position regarding LA Times' motion to unseal portions of the record; met and conferred with opposing counsel regarding stipulations and protective orders in discovery; prepared discovery responses and interfaced with the plaintiffs regarding the same; assisting with and overseeing drafts and translations of class notice and press communications regarding important holdings in the case; trained staff to respond to calls from class members; preparing for and taking depositions; responded to subpoenas for education records of plaintiffs; cite checked and oversaw production and filing of appellate briefs; prepared necessary ex parte applications and stipulations; drafted and edits numerous portions of the oppositions to motions for summary judgment and motion for decertification; assisted with the drafting and filing of the Motion for Leave to File a Third Amended Complaint; interviewed experts, providing them with information, reviewing expert reports and defending depositions; prepared for the Pretrial Conference and drafted motions in limine and oppositions to motions in limine; researched settlement issues, edited mediation brief, and assisted with finalizing settlement in this case.

125. Reem Salahi graduated from Berkeley Law (Boalt Hall) in 2008. Ms. Salahi served as an Associate at Hadsell Stormer & Renick from 2010 to 2013. Upon graduating from law school, Ms. Salahi worked in the Immigrants' Rights and National Security Project at the American Civil Liberties Union of Southern California (ACLU-SC) primarily on the habeas suit of Naji Hamdan, a U.S. citizen of Arab descent, who was forcibly disappeared, tortured and held in criminal detention in the United Arab Emirates at the behest of the United States for two years. In 2010, Ms. Salahi began working with civil rights lawyer Carol Sobel. She has represented dozens of Muslims and people of Middle Eastern descent in their FBI, CIA, CBP, ICE and other law enforcement interviews, who were targets of governmental surveillance based on their religious or ethnic identities. She also represented mosques that faced hostility and discrimination in their attempts to build or expand and was cooperating counsel in the ACLU's No Fly list lawsuit. Ms. Salahi was lead counsel in the administrative proceedings of the eleven UC Irvine and UC Riverside students, commonly dubbed "Irvine 11," who were prosecuted for protesting Israeli Ambassador Michael Oren. In 2011, Ms. Salahi received the National Lawyers Guild award for her defense of the Irvine 11 and the Muslim community at large. While at our firm, Ms. Salahi regularly conducted Know Your Rights presentations throughout Southern California in mosques, community centers, universities, and among women's groups and is a member of the National Lawyers Guild.

127. Mr. Tajsar helped research and draft the opposition brief to the motion for summary judgment filed by Defendant Allan Nadir, and argued Plaintiffs' opposition at the court's hearing. He also was active in much of the pre-trial work that was conducted in the case, including preparing a retained expert and defending his deposition, drafting motions in limine, opposing motions in limine, drafting jury instructions and opposing defendants' jury instructions, and working on various other pre-trial documents. 132. In addition to our attorneys' time, our firm is also seeking fees for a number of other individuals who contributed essential labor to this case. This includes time spent by seven legal assistants: Ben Stormer ($250), Bianca Ramirez ($175), Jenny Sevilla ($175), Jessica Valdenegro ($175), Norma Molina ($175), and Tami Galindo ($175). Our firm bases these rates on each legal assistant's education and experience. We are also seeking fees for time spent by three law students: Irina

Trasovan (UCI), Sahar Durali (UCLA), and Shaleen Shanbhag (UCI), each at the rate of $220. These students worked on the case during the summers preceding their 3L years.

BILLING JUDGMENT

133. I have exercised billing judgment by deducting all time spent on this case by the following individuals: Randy Renick (Partner: 4.8 hours x $775.00 = $3,720.00), Joshua Piovia-Scott (Partner: 1.5 hours x 625.00 = $937.50), Mary Ross (Associate: 5.8 hours x $425.00 = $2,465.00), Alana Murphy (Law Student: 18.5 hours x $175.00 = $3,237.50), Andres Gallegos (Law Student: 3.5 hours x $220.00 = $770.00), Pui Yee Yu (Law Student: 13.0 hours x $220.00 = $2,860.00), Sam Brown (Law Student: 9.0 hours x $220 = $1,980.00), Sophie Von Bergen (Law Student: 2.0 hours x $175.00 = $350.00), Springsong Cooper (Law Student: 10.78 hours x $220.00 = $2,371.60), Adrian Adams (College Student: 7.5 hours x $175.00 = $1,312.50), Min Ji Gal (College Student: 21.0 hours x $175.00 = $3,675.00), Ashley St. Clair (Legal Assistant: 18.9 hours x $175.00 = $3,307.50), and Vanessa Petti (Legal Assistant: 0.5 hours x $175.00 = $87.50). Collectively these deductions total 116.78 hours and $27,074.10. Deducting that amount from $2,517,386.60 equals $2,490,311.90. After making these deductions, I deducted an additional 5% of the remaining time, or 193.2 hours, to eliminate any time that could be redundant, duplicative, or unnecessary for the result obtained. This value of that time is $124,515.59. Thus, the hours for which we are seeking attorney's fees as of the close of business October 11, 2016 are 3,670.5, and the corresponding fees are $2,365,796.40. Further, we are not requesting fees for the period of late March through May 2, 2011.

ADDITIONAL FEES

134. I estimate that our firm will incur additional fees between the time we file Plaintiffs' motion for attorney's fees through the adjudication of the motion for final approval on December 2, 2106. I estimate that, specifically, I will spend 20 hours and

Mr. Olney will spend 40 hours. Accordingly, I estimate that our firm will incur and seek an additional $34,500.00. This time will be spent responding to class members' calls and questions from community members, working on probate matters for the Estate of Alberto Cazarez, reviewing and responding to any objections, engaging in a mediation regarding attorneys' fees, preparing a reply to the City's Opposition, and preparation for and appearance at the Final Approval Hearing.

PLAINTIFFS' HOURS ARE REASONABLE IN LIGHT OF THE PROCEDURAL HISTORY OF THIS CASE

135. In pursuing this case for five years, including successful motions for class certification and a preliminary injunction, responding to an appeal to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, cross-motions for summary judgment, opposing a motion to decertify the class, extensive discovery, including one motion to compel and depositions of numerous lay and expert witnesses, as well as preparations for trial and bringing and opposing numerous motions in limine, and undertaking over a year of settlement discussions, I believe that I and the other Class Counsel have demonstrated a high degree of skill in the litigation of the issues and that we have achieved an outstanding result for the Class. As the following discussion demonstrates, the hours expended on this action were reasonable in light of the manner in which Defendants litigated the case.

136. This case concerns 26 gang injunctions secured by Defendant City of Los Angeles ("City") which contained unconstitutional curfew provisions. Even after a California Court of Appeal in People ex rel. Totten v. Colonia Chiques, 156 Cal. App. 4th 31 (2007), held that a nearly identical curfew provision was unconstitutionally vague, the City continued to serve injunctions containing that provision and to enforce the curfew provisions. Named Plaintiffs Christian Rodriguez, Alberto Cazarez, and at least 5,700 others were served with these injunctions containing unconstitutional provisions. Following Colonia Chiques, the City considered, but ultimately decided against, revising its gang injunction policies.

The City also continued to arrest and prosecute individuals for violations of the curfew provisions, even after Colonia Chiques. It was not until Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Injunction in 2012 that the City finally directed its officers not to detain or arrest anyone served with a gang injunction for violation of a curfew provision.

137. On June 20, 2009, Plaintiffs Rodriguez and Cazarez were arrested by Defendant Officer Gomez on suspicion of violating the curfew provision of the gang injunction and jailed pending arraignment. Mr. Rodriguez was charged and subjected to prosecution by Defendant City Attorney Alan Nadir for violating the curfew provision of the gang injunction.

138. Plaintiffs Rodriguez and Cazarez filed a complaint against the City of Los Angeles, City Attorney Carmen Trutanich, Chief of Police Charles Beck, Deputy City Attorney Alan Nadir, and Officer Angel Gomez, on February 7, 2011, challenging the constitutionality of the curfew provision in 26 gang injunctions in the City of Los Angeles. Dkt. 1. Plaintiffs alleged claims stemming from service of the injunctions and enforcement of the curfew under 42 U.S.C. §1983 for violations of Plaintiffs' First, Fourth, and Fourteenth Amendment rights, as well as claims under the California Constitution, under the Bane Act (Cal. Civ. Code §52.1), and for False Imprisonment and Violation of Mandatory Duties. Plaintiffs named as defendants the City of Los Angeles, Charles Beck, Carmen Trutanich, Allen Nadir, and Angel Gomez. In their Complaint, Plaintiffs sought general, special, and statutory damages; punitive damages against individual defendants; attorneys' fees and costs; interest; preliminary and permanent injunctive relief; and declaratory relief. Plaintiffs filed a First Amended Complaint on April 13, 2011. Dkt. 9. On June 30, 2011, Plaintiffs filed a Second Amended Complaint, alleging claims under 42 U.S.C. §1983 for violations of the Fourteenth Amendment; Article 1 §§ 1,7 of the California Constitution [Fourteenth Amendment analogue]; the Bane Act (Cal. Civ. Code §52.1); False Imprisonment; and Mandatory Duties. Dkt. 18.

139. The parties engaged in lengthy discovery proceedings. Plaintiffs took the following eleven depositions: Anne Tremblay; Allan Nadir; Angel Gomez; William Hart; the City's Persons Most Knowledgeable Tremblay, Arturo Martinez, and Ronald Dickerson; Earl Paysinger; Antonio Rodriguez; Michael Switzer, and Robert Fonzi. For their part, Defendants took the following six depositions: Mr. Rodriguez, Experts Ana Muniz, Humberto Guizar, Harry Griffin, Jerry Harper, and Edwina Barvosa. The parties propounded and responded to several rounds of written discovery. Plaintiffs sought the electronic records of all persons served and arrested pursuant to an unconstitutional curfew, and the defendants objected. Plaintiffs filed motions to compel discovery from the City and the State of California, which they won. The Los Angeles Times intervened in the lawsuit to get limited access to such records, which Defendants opposed. Plaintiffs participated in negotiations on how to redact such documents to protect the privacy interests of class members.

140. On March 30, 2012, Plaintiffs filed a motion to certify a class of persons served with one or more of the 26 challenged gang injunctions, as well as a sub-class of persons served with the injunctions who have been seized, arrested, jailed, and/or prosecuted for violating the curfew provision in the injunctions. Dkts. 43-44. Defendants opposed the motion and the matter was heard at oral argument.

141. On July 6, 2012, Plaintiffs filed a motion for preliminary injunction. Dkt. 61. Defendants opposed the motion and the matter was heard at oral argument.

142. The Court certified a class of persons served with one or more of the 26 gang injunctions on February 15, 2013, but declined to certify the proposed sub-class. Dkt. 89. The Court issued a preliminary injunction on the same date which required the City to serve all class members with notice that the curfew provisions of the 26 challenged gang injunctions were unconstitutional and would not be enforced, and prohibited such enforcement. Dkt. 90. The Court amended its order granting Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Injunction on March 6, 2013, to remove the prohibition on enforcement as moot. Dkt. 96. Defendants appealed the preliminary injunction to the Ninth Circuit. The appeal was fully briefed and argued, but ultimately dismissed as moot by the Court of Appeals on January 17, 2014, because Defendants had complied with the injunction. Rodriguez v. City of Los Angeles, 552 F. App'x. 723 (9th Cir. 2014).

143. Sadly, Mr. Cazarez died in an unrelated car accident in July 2014 and Plaintiffs substituted in the Estate of Alberto Cazarez in his place. Dkt. 166.

144. Defendants filed three motions for summary judgment and a motion to decertify the class in October 2014. Dkts. 180, 181, 185, and 187. Plaintiffs opposed the motions, and filed a motion for summary adjudication on several claims, which defendants opposed. Dkts. 184, 195, 197, 198, 199. The Court denied Defendants' motion to decertify the class (Dkt. 225), and took the summary judgment motions under submission.

145. Plaintiffs filed a motion for leave to file a Third Amended Complaint on December 19, 2014. Dkt. 233. On February 20, 2015, the Court granted Plaintiffs' motion Dkt. 250, and Plaintiffs filed the Third Amended Complaint. Dkt. 254.

146. On May 8, 2015, Plaintiffs were granted summary adjudication as to the City's liability for its violation of class members' right to due process under the United States Constitution and as to the City's liability under the California Constitution. Dkt. 268 at 44-45. However, Plaintiffs were denied summary adjudication as to damages under the California Constitution. Id. Plaintiffs also were denied summary adjudication as to their claims under the Bane Act, which carry statutory damages, and the City was granted summary adjudication on that same issue. Id. at 27-30, 41-43, 46. Defendant Allan Nadir's motion for summary judgment was granted in its entirety, and Gomez's motion for summary judgment was granted as to his qualified immunity for claims related to service and enforcement of the injunctions and the arrest of Rodriguez, among other claims. Id. at 46.

147. On September 25, 2015, Defendant Gomez filed a motion to dismiss the individual claims of the Estate of Alberto Cazarez. Dkt. 339. After full briefing, but before the court ruled on the motion, Gomez filed a request to withdraw his motion on February 5, 2016. Dkt. 359. The court vacated Gomez's motion without prejudice to Gomez to renew the motion at a later date, in the event the settlement in this case was not finalized. Dkt. 360.

148. The class-wide issues remaining for trial are injunctive relief and damages against the City for federal due process violations from its enforcement of the unconstitutional curfew provision; injunctive relief against the City for state due process violations from its enforcement of the unconstitutional curfew provision; liability and damages against the City for false imprisonment; liability, injunctive relief, and damages against Beck and Trutanich in their official capacities for federal due process violations; liability and damages against Beck and Trutanich in their individual capacities for federal due process violations; and liability and injunctive relief against Beck and Trutanich in their official capacities for state due process violations. Rodriguez has no individual claims remaining, and Cazarez has remaining individual claims for false imprisonment and violation of the Fourth Amendment. The parties filed motions in limine in preparation for trial, which were heard and ruled upon in August 2015. Dkt. 337. The Court held that Class Counsel could introduce at trial expert testimony concerning the harm the unconstitutional curfew provision caused to class members, and pursue presumed damages, but barred Class Counsel from introducing Cazarez's declaration at trial or testimony of class members other than Rodriguez. Dkt. 337.

149. Class Counsel evaluated the class-wide evidence of damages from the service and enforcement of the unconstitutionally vague curfew provision that it would put forward at trial through expert testimony, namely: class members' internalized and persistent fear of arbitrary and discriminatory interference in their daily lives; lost opportunities for unique social experiences; harms to existing social ties; hindrance of formation of diverse social networks; limitations on self-expression and development of self-identity; and long-term harm from the curtailment of social experience and social network growth. Class counsel determined that while a jury could award significant actual damages incurred by each class member due exclusively to the unconstitutional curfew provision, a jury could also determine that the damages to class members were only nominal (e.g., one dollar per person).

150. In light of the extreme uncertainty surrounding a damages award from a jury, particularly given the complications of damages awards to a class, Class Counsel concluded that the settlement on the terms set forth in the Settlement Agreement is in the best interest of the class. Id. ¶ 30.

PLAINTIFFS ACHIEVED AN EXCELLENT RESULT

151. The Jobs and Education Program was carefully crafted over the course of about ten months of negotiating to provide value to class members. The parties engaged in approximately 17 settlement conferences with Magistrate Judge Walsh, either in person or telephonically over this time period. Those class members who already have a job or career they are happy with can either seek educational benefits that may help them advance in their careers, transfer the benefit to a close relative, or obtain supportive services to assist them in job retention. In addition to being offered GED courses, college education, job training, paid apprenticeships, and job placement assistance, class members who are identified as requiring the full training program receive a $1,000 stipend as an incentive for completing the program, in two installments. Those individuals identified as being job-ready can still obtain supportive services of up to $1,000 to assist with job and education-related needs such as transportation, books, or job-related equipment or work-related specialized apparel.

152. To ensure that class members are receiving a valuable benefit, the Jobs and Education Program will be monitored by a third-party evaluator from California State University, Northridge on an annual basis. The monitor will evaluate the progress of the program and identify any management issues related to implementation. The monitor will produce an annual report, which will be provided to the Parties, that has the authority to propose changes to the Program.

153. Although the Jobs and Education Program uses some existing City program infrastructure, it is funded entirely by new non-supplanting outlay of funds by the City and is provided only to class members and their transferees. A maximum of 10% of the funds will go to the City for administrative costs in handling the Program.

154. United States Magistrate Judge Patrick J. Walsh has commented about the quality of the settlement, the skill demonstrated by all involved counsel, and the societal value of resolving this case in the manner agreed upon by the parties:

- "In all the cases I've participated in this is the best settlement I've ever seen."
- "Having spent some time with the parties and with their counsel over the last month, I am confident that the lawyers know what they're doing. And they're doing the best they can be on behalf of their clients."
- "I can't tell you enough. It's some of the best lawyering I've seen in 15 years on this job. You guys have done a hell of a job on both sides."
- [This settlement] "could be a big sea change in the world starting with Los Angeles where rather than lock these folks up and have injunctions against them, you invest $30 million."

Order on Joint Stipulation to Make Use of Statements from Hon. Patrick J. Walsh Regarding Settlement, filed on July 1, 2016. Dkt. 379.

SUMMARY OF FEES AND COSTS

155. Attached as Exhibit B is a true and correct copy of the itemized time records which have been kept contemporaneously during the pendency of this case. It is our firm's policy and practice to keep such contemporaneous time records of all matters that are pending in litigation for which fees may be sought. Attached as Exhibit C are the records for the costs.

156. Based on these contemporaneous records, the combined fees sought by Hadsell Stormer & Renick LLP at this time are: $2,517,386.60 less $151,589.69 in fees that have been waived in the exercise of billing judgment, plus $34,500.00 in fees that I estimate our firm will incur between now and the Final Approval Hearing, for a total of $2,400,296.40.

157. In addition, there will be many hours that will have to be spent by counsel for Plaintiffs to implement this settlement over the next four years. Defendants have taken the position that counsel should estimate their hours over the next four years and seek the total attorney's fee award now. For many reasons, however, we do not believe that is possible, and we request instead that Plaintiffs' counsel be permitted to seek fees during the course of the implementation of the settlement. For one thing, while we have agreed to provide pro bono counsel or law students to represent class members who wish to be taken off the gang injunction, it will likely take substantial time to set up this pro bono panel and to create the necessary templates so as to permit such counsel to perform their representations. It is impossible to know at this time just how many people will seek to be removed from the gang injunctions, and equally impossible to know how many the City will stipulate to remove without a hearing. Thus, it is impossible to know the scope of the work that will be required by plaintiffs' counsel just to implement the Gang Removal Process. It is also impossible to know how many issues arise with respect to the Jobs and Education Program, and whether complaints must be handled and the system altered to handle any issues that arise. It is impossible at this juncture to know whether the monitoring that will be handled by Cal State Northridge will elucidate any problems that must be dealt with by counsel. For all of these reasons, Plaintiffs' counsel request that the Court retain jurisdiction over this case for a period not to exceed five years and permit Plaintiffs' counsel to seek periodic attorney's fees from this Court, should the parties not be able to reach informal agreement in the future as fees are incurred.

APPROPRIATENESS OF A MULTIPLIER

158. Our firm primarily takes cases on a contingency basis. Because of the contingent nature of payment it is necessary that we recover a fee that is substantially more than that which we would normally charge paying clients on an hourly basis. To attract persons to take such contingent cases and to properly compensate lawyers for this type of litigation, it is typically expected that if a case goes to trial or arbitration there will be a multiplier of approximately 2.0 to 3.0 simply because of the contingent nature of the case.

159. I believe that a multiplier is compelled in this case in order to be faithful to the market analysis explained in depth by the California Supreme Court in Ketchum v. Moses, 24 Cal.4th 1122, 1133 (2001) ("purpose of a fee enhancement, or so-called multiplier, for contingent risk is to bring the financial incentives for attorneys enforcing important constitutional rights . . . into line with incentives they have to undertake claims for which they are paid on a fee-for-services basis."). Cases of this type entail substantial risk. The market rewards such risk by enhancing the lodestar to account for that risk. This case well illustrates the reason that such enhancements are necessary in order to promote the public policy underlying civil rights statutes by making them economically viable.

160. As a result of the manner in which this case was litigated by Defendants, Hadsell Stormer & Renick LLP was forced to decline many cases that were valued much higher than this one. We are a small firm, averaging 11 attorneys over the course of this litigation. Due to our firm's reputation, and the relative dearth of lawyers willing to take clients on contingency, we regularly receive between 170 - 200 inquiries a month from individuals seeking representation; of these, our firm considers around 50-60 of them to have merit sufficient to investigate and examine more closely. During the pendency of this litigation, around 20 of these cases came up for serious discussion at our intake meetings, a step that only occurs when we are planning to retain a client and are discussing how to staff the case, but were ultimately declined solely because we did not have attorney time available that was necessary to litigate the case. Many of these cases were employment cases, class actions, and/or police misconduct cases that could easily have reached resolutions of several million dollars, as well as cases involving individuals who were willing and able to pay our fees on an hourly basis. However, despite the importance of the legal issues presented in these cases, and our determination that they had a high likelihood of success, we were forced to refer these cases to other firms; subsequently, several of these firms have successfully negotiated favorable settlements. It has long been the policy of our firm not to seek referral fees in these cases. Attorneys at our firm were tied up for several years on what we believe to be avoidable discovery disputes and unnecessarily massive motions. As this case both required our firm to expend considerable resources with no guarantee of payment, and to forgo much more lucrative cases, the law favors the application of a multiplier.

161. Because of the nature of this type of litigation and Claimant's lack of resources, our firm took this case on a contingency basis. Simply put, without the prospect of obtaining all of our fees and costs and an enhanced award based upon a reasonable multiplier, this case and others like it would be a financial disaster for our firm.

162. I understand that this litigation and the result Plaintiffs achieved will help deter other municipalities throughout California from serving and enforcing unconstitutional gang injunctions. This litigation and settlement agreement have attracted significant public attention and are well known throughout the legal community. In my experience litigating high profiles cases, a litigation such as this will prompt other municipalities to take affirmative steps to minimize their own legal exposure, which may include curing ongoing unconstitutional practices and avoiding new ones.

163. For all of these reasons, and as set forth more fully in Plaintiffs' Motion for Attorney's Fees, I believe that a multiplier of 2.0 is appropriate in this case.

164. We are only seeking a multiplier only on fees for the time spent on the underlying case. Thus, we are seeking a multiplier of 2.0 for $2,400,296.40 minus fees incurred for the time spent on the fee motion through October 11, 2016 ($45,242.50) and our estimated future work through final approval ($34,500, which we anticipate will include, but not be limited to, further work on the fee motion), which collectively total $79,742.50 in fees. Thus, the lodestar for time spent on the underlying case is $2,320,553.90. 2.0 times $2,320,553.90 equals $4,641,107.80.

COSTS

165. Hadsell Stormer & Renick LLP is seeking a total of $63,977.89 in expenses it incurred while litigating this case. A detailed itemization of these expenses is attached as Exhibit C and summarized below.
